WACHUMA MASTER PLANT MEDICINE :

Wachuma is a sacred cactus from the Andes of Peru that has been used by Inka and Pre-Inka Civilizations for thousands of years to rise the collective consciousness of our societies and to connect Mankind with the spirit world.

Grandfather Wachuma is the key to the heavens, and to reawaken the heart of mankind. This Sacred Plant Medicine reconnects you with the universal beauty, brings harmony, joy, peace and balance into our lives. Many people with depression, anxiety, drug and alcohol abuse have recovered fully through Wachuma Ceremonies.

WILLKASARA SACRED EXPEDITIONS

Wachan has over 40 years of experience leading and facilitating Wachuma Plant Medicine Ceremonies around the world and helping many people recover of their ailments through his teachings and ceremonies.

“Our ceremonies are very sacred; we prepare ourselves during our whole lifetime for this path to be a keeper of the sacred Medicines. We respect life and the Sacred Medicines; we are not experimenting with people. In the last 20 years Wachuma and Ayahuasca have become very popular around the world because of their healing powers, at the same time this popularity has revealed a group of people from around the world who are confusing and misleading our ancient ways of ceremony that has been passed down generation after generation here in the Andes, claiming they are “shamans”. These confused people are misusing the power of the sacred plants for their own greed. Love is not blind, love is wise.

My purpose and mission is to share with the world the magic and power of the Plant Medicine Wachuma in its authentic form in a safe and appropriate environment and to guide you into the magical and powerful land of the Andean Civilizations, Peru.

Our Spiritual guide Wachan Bajiyoperak

Wachan Bajiyoperak, born and raised in Cusco Peru comes from a lineage of Medicine People. His lineage is related to the Waro Panaca, a pre-Inka Society. He has received the teaching of both his mother and father. His Mother was a gifted Midwife and skilled herbalist. Wachan's father was a very well-known Chawpy Misa carrier (Inka priest) "I feel blessed to have been born in such a sacred land, and to have the privilege of caring on the ancient teachings and following the path of the ancient ones."

At the age of 7 Wachan's mother gifted him a Quena (Andean flute) to nourish his musical gifts. On day by the river side she gifted him this special flute saying " this will be your lifelong friend." within a few days Wachan was already playing the traditional songs his mother would sing daily. From this day on Wachan began his journey as a Harawico which translates to Alchemist of Sound.

At the age of 7 this playful boy, Wachan would accidentally break his flute, his loving mother would replace it with a new one every time it broke, until one day she stopped bringing new flutes. This was the day that Wachan began building his own flutes. Since this day he has been building the traditional instruments of the Andes and studying the pre-Inka and Inka instruments.

In the 1980's Wachan and the Japanese icon Iso Tomita made a music video in the Nazca Lines of Peru, called " Song of the Universe " he later performed in Japan with the ocarina Master, Sojiro in Japan. These was the beginning of Wachan's journey through the world sharing his music.

In the 1970's Wachan founded his first musical group " Apu Pachatusan" a cultural Group who's mission is to study, practice and keep the ancient heritage and ancient music alive.

Currently Wachan travels around the world, sharing the teaching of the ancient ones, through workshops, conferences, Plant Medicine Ceremonies, and spiritual retreats in the Andes of Peru.

Wachan considers himself a Harawico, which translates to Alchemist of Sound. He is a gifted Inka and pre-Inka instrument builder, composer and keeper of the sacred Andean Music. Wachan is a skilled sound therapist, herbalist and Plant Medicine facilitator, helping people reconnect with themselves, through Mother Earth, Pachamama.

Wachuma is cactus from the Andes of Peru that has been used by Inka and Pre-Inka Civilizations for thousands of years to rise the collective consciousness of our societies and to connect Mankind with the spirit world.

Grandfather Wachuma is the key to the heavens, and to reawaken the heart of mankind This Sacred Plant Medicine reconnects you with the universal beauty, brings harmony, joy, peace and balance into our lives. Many people with depression, anxiety, drug and alcohol abuse have recovered fully through Wachuma Ceremonies.

Wachan has over 40 years of experience leading and facilitating Wachuma Plant Medicine Ceremonies around the world and helping many people recover of their ailments through his teachings and ceremonies.

"Our ceremonies are very sacred; we prepare ourselves during our whole lifetime for this path to be a keeper of the sacred Medicines. We respect life and the Sacred Medicines; we are not experimenting with people. In the last 20 years Wachuma and Ayahuasca have become very popular around the world because of their healing powers, at the same time this popularity has revealed a group of people from around the world who are confusing and misleading our ancient ways of ceremony that has been passed down generation after generation here in the Andes, claiming they are "shamans". These confused people are misusing the power of the sacred plants for their own greed. Love is not blind, love is wise. My purpose and mission is to share with the world the magic and power of the Plant Medicine Wachuma in its authentic form in a safe and appropriate environment and to guide you into the magical and powerful land of the Andean Civilizations, Peru ."

Throughout the year, Wachan and his Family (the Willkasara Medicine Family) travel around the world providing these teachings and ceremonies with those who are ready for transformation and healing, through seminars, workshops, retreats, sound healing, Plant Medicine Ceremonies, and healing session. At the end of the year the Willkasara Medicine Family co-facilitates a New Year's silent meditation retreat with Rev. Micheal Bernard Beckwith to welcome the new year through meditation and Andean ceremonies.
